MONDAY, July 8. 1765. [NUMB. 1557.]

The BOSTON Evening-Post.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From the PUBLIC LEDGER.

Pleaſe to give the following a Place in your paper, in Anſwer to the Queſtions propoſed by the No-Smuggler in your Wedneſday's Ledger.——[See the the above Queſtions in the Boſton Evening Poſt of the 29th of April.]

THE North American Smuggling Trade is deſtructive to the mother country in general, if meant from Europe, and ought to be diſcountenanced; but the Britiſh ſugar-coloniſts, who have more than thirty years been too partially indulged by an impracticable tax on foreign molaſſes, have no reaſon to complain againſt the North-American Smugglers, of a commodity that has been ſuggeſted themſelves have ſmuggled from our inveterate enemies the French, ever ſince the year 1733.

Therefore two million as loyal and ſerviceable ſubjects as any the King has in his dominions, ought not in juſtice or good policy to be any longer debarr'd of their natural rights, that a few pamper'd Creolians may roll in their gilded equipages thro' the ſtreets of this metropolis.

When the new and old ſettlements can take off all the fiſh, lumber, &c, that the northern coloniſts can export, and fully ſupply them with Weſt-Indian produce, then, and not before, ought the foreign trade to be clogged, even with a ſingle duty. This may fairly ſerve for an anſwer to the third and fourth queſtion. The thought of an independency in the North-Americans never exiſted in their minds, but is abhorrent to, and as much deteſted by them as by Mr. No Smuggler, with his judicious queſtions.

When the North-Americans ſhew any inclination to be refractory, they ought to be ſaddled with troops, and, if able, be made to pay them. The putting down the diſtilleries in North-America would undoubtedly be pleaſing to their Creolian friends, and ſo would making the North-Americans as arrant ſlaves as Guinea negroes; but not quite ſo equitable, perhaps, as obliging the Creoles to pay the expence of cutters employed to prevent the ſmuggling of molaſſes, rum and ſugar, calculated to keep up the impoſition upon the North-Americans of thoſe articles, at double the prices they were before the ſugar-act, and in payment for North-America produce at fifty per cent. leſs than they formerly paid.

As I have not heard of any threats from the northern coloniſts, the anſwer to this queſtion ſhall be by another queſtion, viz. Whether the author of an inſidious falſe ſuggeſtion, tending to alienate the affections of the mother country, and provoke her to oppreſs and diſguſt more than two millions of her moſt uſeful American ſubjects, ought not to be treated as an enemy to his country, and with the utmoſt ſcorn and contempt? If theſe anſwers to Mr. No Smuggler ſhould not ſatisfy him, he may expect, in a day or two a few queſtions relating to the ſugar-colonies, by an ANTI SMUGGLER.

The SPEECH of Lieut. Governor TRYON to the General Aſſembly of the Province of North Carolina, at the opening of the Seſſion on May 2. 1765.

Honourable Gentlemen, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

HIS Majeſty having been graciouſly pleaſed to appoint Me to preſide as Lieutenant Governor in this Province, I have called you together immediately after my taking the government upon me, that I might have your aſſiſtance, in my endeavours to compenſate to the Province, for the death of a gentleman who has ſo long and ſo very ably diſcharged the important truſt repoſed in him by his Majeſty, and by his royal Predeceſſor, of happy memory.

It has been a great happineſs to the inhabitants of this province, to have enjoyed, I might almoſt ſay, a general ſecurity and repoſe, while others of his Majeſty's colonies on the continent, have been harraſſed both by Indian and European enemies.

They now enjoy, with us, the Bleſſing of that general tranquility, which the good providence of Almighty God, the wiſdom of his Majeſty's councils, and the conduct and bravery of his commanders & troops, have ſo happily obtained and eſtabliſhed.

Although, Gentlemen, you have had little experience of the calamities of war, I am yet confident you are not the leſs ſenſible of the advantages of peace; nor the leſs thankful to our gracious Sovereign, who ſo ardently, and ſo effectually, laboured to reſtore it to his people.

I doubt not but you will avail yourſelves accordingly of this ſeaſon of tranquility, to promote the welfare and proſperity of this flouriſhing colony: As the beſt means to do ſo, give me leave to recommend to you, a ſtrict examination into the ſtate of your public funds, and an inviolable obſervance of public Faith; which cannot fail to give the people of Great Britain, a good opinion of the credit of this province; and muſt, in its conſequences, eſſentially tend to promote the trade, commerce, and welfare of the colony; the effect of which good purpoſes, I ſhall endeavour, by my future conduct, to convince you, I have extremely at heart.

I have received inſtructions, to recommend to you, the re-enacting an act for making proviſion for an Orthodox clergy, paſſed in 1762, free from the objections which were made to that act; a copy of which inſtructions, with the objections to the ſaid act, I have ordered to be laid before you for your conſideration; and, at the ſame time, recommend to you, the eſtabliſhing one clergyman for each pariſh, at the general expence of the public, to be paid by the public treaſurers: A number ſo ſmall, in reſpect to the extent of the pariſhes, that were not the good ends to be effected, which I moſt ardently wiſh, and ſincerely believe, will accrue from ſuch appointments, the burden would be inconſiderable to the province; & the ſalary need never extend to any greater number of clergy, under the ſame limitations. In this inſtance, I muſt more particularly addreſs myſelf to the members of the church of England, and deſire them to reflect on the preſent ſtate of religion in this province, and of the little proſpect there appears of its ever being properly eſtabliſhed, if they but a little while longer ſuffer their perſuaſion to lay under a general neglect: I ground my opinion on the encreaſing numbers of the different ſectaries in this province; who, in a ſhort period of time, may be the majority in all public aſſemblies; each of which may then poſſibly incline to eſtabliſh his own perſuaſion, in preference to the eſtabliſhed religion at home. If I have pointed out any conſequences that are likely to attend a continuance of the neglect of our religion, I hope no perſons of a different perſuaſion will imagine I am an enemy to toleration; I profeſs myſelf a warm advocate for it, in the fulleſt extent of his Majeſty's indulgence: Yet, I muſt inform them, I never heard toleration in my country made uſe of as an argument to exempt diſſenters from bearing their ſhare of the ſupport of the eſtabliſhed religion; I therefore hope to meet with your joint concurrence in framing this act; and truſt, you will be convinced, it is for the happineſs of the country, that religion ſhould have but one head, how many members ſoever there may be to the body.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

I ſhall lay before you, a letter from his Majeſty's principal ſecretary of ſtate, relative to the eſtabliſhing a poſt throughout this extenſive continent; and I hope you will make ſuch ample proviſion, to defray the expence, the Poſt-Maſter-General may find neceſſary, in the route he directs to be taken thro' this province, as will render his Majeſty's intentions the moſt effectual.

I am ſorry for the loſs you have ſuſtained, by the death of the late treaſurer for the ſouthern diſtrict; and wiſh a perſon may be found to ſucceed him, whoſe abilities, character, and experience in public affairs, may give reaſonable hope of his acting in that important office, with the integrity and punctuality equal to that of his predeceſſor.

As this buſy ſeaſon of the year, will neceſſarily require your attention to your domeſtic affairs; I ſhall defer mentioning other conſiderations I have to recommend to you, to a more favourable opportunity; when I ſhall alſo be better prepared to lay them before you.

Honourable Gentlemen, and Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

Let unanimity and diſpatch cement our endeavours for the public ſervice; and let our actions be directed ſolely by principles of public utility. For my own part, I can, with the utmoſt ſincerity, declare, that no other conſideration ſhall have any influence on my conduct; convinced, that by acting from ſuch motives, I can beſt fulfill his Majeſty's moſt gracious intentions in ſending me here, as well as my own endeavours to render acceptable ſervice to this country.

Guided by the ſame principles, I ſhall ever think it equally my duty, to preſerve the people in their conſtitutional liberty, as to maintain inviolate, the juſt and neceſſary rights of the crown.

Meſſrs. FLEETS,

IT was with a peculiar ſatisfaction I peruſed a piece reſpecting the colonies, begun in yours of June 24th, and ended in your laſt, taken from a New-York paper dated June 6. 1765; that worthy writer has ſo clearly diſtinguiſhed himſelf, as a lover of juſtice, and a friend to his country, and at the ſame time appears to have ſo thorough knowledge of the ſtate of the caſe, that I think every unprejudiced mind, muſt with abhorrence ſee the cruel injuſtice of the late proceedings, and even thoſe that are in oppoſition to juſtice, unleſs to an amazing degree blinded by that vile principle ſelf, muſt in a great meaſure give up the purſuit of thoſe methods which will infallibly end in the ruin of our trade, totally deſtroy liberty, and finally fall heavy on the mother-country. For my own part, it appears an Engliſhman's liberty and the freedom ſo long boaſted above our neighbours, is ſunk to the bare name; and its ſurely a matter of ſmall import, what we are called if we are compleat ſlaves.

I obſerve with concern that Gentleman's complaint of the preſs in neglecting "for want of room" to publiſh his thoughts, tho' the paper at the ſame time was fill'd with trifling things. I am truly ſorry that we are all ſo blinded to our own intereſt as not to exert every faculty in the ſupport of that darling LIBERTY, for if we can't redreſs our grievances, we can at leaſt by a candid publication prove that we are greatly wrong'd; and who knows but in future when JUSTICE again appears, that the peruſal of theſe things may be of ſervice to the authors and to us, as the good deeds of Mordecai were to him and his nation: I therefore intreat thro' the channel of your paper that that Gentleman would favor the world with his intended piece in a pamphlet, as thereby it may be preſerved to poſterity, and with the STAMP upon it, to ſhow that there was one, who at this day of trouble, corruption and bribery, dared to ſpeak the truth and ſtand on the ſide of juſtice, for by the ſpecimen he has given I dare ſay every friend to liberty will approve his ſentiments, and thoſe who are bred to ſlavery, can't oppoſe with force, and ſurely as that Gentleman juſtly obſerves there is no greater proof of a bad cauſe than calling in the aſſiſtance of weak, low, mean, baſe and falſe arguments to ſupport it.

Your giving the above a place in your next will oblige your reader, &c. Z.

LONDON.

May 2. It is confidently ſaid, a great perſonage has declined, on account of his health and the plan of life he has adopted, ſome very high offices obligingly preſſed upon him, with regard to aſſuming a a conſiderable ſhare in the adminiſtration.

We are informed, that there is now preparing for the preſs, an addreſs to the King, Lords and Commons; containing, an authentic deſcription of the particular artifices and various concealments carried on in a cerrain branch of buſineſs for thirty years paſt, in defrauding the revenue in a moſt extenſive degree, without being detected: alſo ſetting forth the neceſſity for altering the mode of exciſe, by taking the duty entirely off beer and ale thro'out the kingdom; whereby it will be evidently ſhewn, that the revenue will be increaſed to ſome hundred thouſand pounds per annum.

A waggoner of Briſtol has obtained a decree in Chancery for an eſtate of between five and ſix hundred pounds of yearly rent and 14,000l. in caſh, after being kept eighteen years out of his right, ten of which it has been pleaded in Chancery.

May 8. We hear from Edinburgh, that a new dramatic parody, called, The Death of Bucephalus, was acted at the theatre with great applauſe.

Recent letters from Paris adviſe, that the payment of the Britiſh Canada bills were actually in the laſt train of accommodation with Lord Hertford, when the poſt came away.

The court of Madrid have lately agreed with reſpect to the boundaries to be obſerved between the ſubjects of Great-Britain and Spain in the Bay of Honduras, as tranſmitted to his Excellency Lord Rochford for the approbation of the Spaniſh miniſtry; copies of which have been already tranſmitted to the reſpective governors in the Weſt-Indies.

They write from Jamaica, that a ſloop of war was diſpatched by Admiral Tyrrel, on the windward ſtation, to reconnoitre what the Spaniards were about at Iſabella Bay, on the iſland of Hiſpaniola, where advice had been received, that they were erecting ſeveral large fortifications.

Yeſterday morning the firſt diviſion of the royal regiment of Scotch fuzileers, marched off from Dartford on the route to Portſmouth, in order to embark for Weſt Florida.

Saturday laſt died in Ratcliff-highway, one Wetherington, who had amaſſed a fortune of 3000l. by ſelling old rags and iron.

From France we are told that their navy is already in a better condition than it was at the commencement of the late war; and that they intend to try their ſtrength with us, not only if we intermeddle in the affair of Corſica, but alſo as touching a ſettlement which they have made on the river Gambia in Africa, where according to our reckoning we have an excluſive right.

Charlestown, South-Carolina, June 5.

The report of a number of Chickeſaws and Choctaws being dead of the ſmall pox, is entirely groundleſs.

Letters from Panſacola in Weſt-Florida, of the 4th inſtant adviſe, that the congreſs which the Hon. John Stuart, Eſq; ſuperintendant of the ſouthern diſtrict of America, has been holding for ſome time with ſeveral nations of Indians was ended much to the ſatisfaction of the ſaid Indians, who had conſented that Britiſh ſubjects might ſettle and poſſeſs any part of their country, within forty leagues from the ſea. It was reported that 400 Acadians were lately arrived at New-Orleans, and the Weſt-Floridans began to doubt whether the Spaniards would come to take poſſeſſion of the ſaid city and iſland. We are told, his Majeſty's ſhips in the Bay of Mexico are extremely vigilant in preventing all clandeſtine trade between his Majeſty's ſubjects & the ſubjects of Spain.

Philadelphia, June 27.

On Tueſday morning laſt we had a ſmart thunder-guſt here, when one William Davis, a cooper in Water-ſtreet, was killed by the lightning. There are ſome iron rails on the top of the houſe, which it ſtruck firſt, but for want of a conductor to convey it to the ground, tore up part of the ſhingling, and took the man on the right temple, as he was looking out of the window, ran down his right ſide, and melted part of his ſhoe and knee buckles, tore his breeches to pieces. and the ſhoe off his foot. His wife, who was in the ſame room with him, was knocked down, but after ſome time recovered.—This ſeems to be a proof of the uſefulneſs of having iron rods, with conductors, fixed on the tops of houſes, which might often prevent the bad effects of lightning, as has been repeatedly recommended by ſeveral gentlemen in their electrical experiments.

Entred in, Sloop Deborah, N. Brewſter, from Boſton; and Sloop Polly, W. Bartlett, from Salem.

Arrived at Barbados, Capt. Brown from Piſcataqua.

NEW-YORK, June 27.

We hear from the Fiſh Kills, that for a Week or two paſt, a Tiger or Panther, has been ſeen in the Woods in that Neighbourhood, not far from Mr. Depeyſter's Houſe. It had killed ſeveral Dogs, torn a Cow ſo that ſhe died the ſame Day, and carried off the Calf; it likewiſe carried off a Colt of about a Week old. Eight Men with their Guns went in Search of it, and ſtarted it at a Diſtance, it fled with great Swiftneſs, and has been ſeen ſince at the Fiſh Kills.

Saturday Night laſt, one Berſheba Clieveland, being out a dancing, in Company with a Seaman named James Caldwell, & ſome Words ariſing between them, he ſtruck her; upon which ſhe endeavoured to make her Eſcape over ſeveral Fences from him, in attempting which ſhe hurt herſelf; this, with the Heat of Dancing, and the Blow ſhe received, obliged her to take to her Bed, where ſhe languiſhed for two or three Days, and then died:——The Coroner's Inqueſt having found ſeveral Marks of Violence on her, brought in their Virdict, That her Death was occaſioned by the ſaid Caldwell.

July 1. We hear that Mr. James M'Evers, merchant, of this city, is appointed Commiſſioner for collecting the Stamp Duties in this government.

We hear that a new brig from Surinham for Rhode-Iſland, was, a few days ago, caſt away on the Eaſt-end of Long-Iſland, and that great part of the cargo is loſt; but that it was thought the veſſel would be got off.

Wedneſday evening laſt, the ſnow Delaware, Capt. Blyth, arrived here from Briſtol, after a tedious paſſage of 10 weeks. The 13th of June, in lat. 36, 53. long. 64, and ½, he ſpoke with Capt. Philpot, in a ſchooner from Boſton, bound for the Weſt-Indies.----All well on board.

[To ſatisfy the young Lady, who deſires to know, whether 4 old Gentlemen ſhe accidentally ſaw together on Saturday laſt, gathering Cherries (whoſe Ages amounted to 297 Years) who were on account of their Age excuſed from bearing Arms, were liable to be ſtamp'd: We have made the proper inquiry, and find they are not liable to be ſtamp'd, or preſs'd ——But ſhe is.]

Entred in, Wimble from Boſton.

NEWPORT, July 1.

Capt. Thurſten arrived here laſt Saturday in 19 days from the Weſt Indies. Before he ſailed he recieved information of a free trade being opened at Martinico and Guadaloupe, for all ſorts of North American produce, pork, beef, bread, and flour excepted. Laſt Friday he ſpoke with Capt. Smith, from Boſton for Philadelphia.

We hear from Little Compton, that a ſon of Thomas Church, Eſq; of about 7 years of age, was drowned the 15th inſtant.

The governor of Weſt Florida, and the hon. John Stuart, Eſq; ſuperintendant of Indian affairs for the ſouthern diſtrict, on the 30th of May held a congreſs at Penſacola, with the Mortar, headman of the upper Creeks, and about 600 other Indians, which terminated to mutual ſatisfaction. The Indians made a grant to the Engliſh of a large tract of land.

Capt. Carpenter in 27 days from Penſacola, informs, that Admiral Barnaby had fell down the river, in order to proceed to South Carolina, with 3 of his Majeſty's ſhips; the Prince Edward of 40 guns was to remain at Penſacola.

Upon the arrival of Sir William Barnaby at Penſacola with three ſhips from the Bay of Honduras, the merchants of that place waited upon him with a very genteel addreſs, with regard to the reſtraints laid on the Spaniſh trade at that place, to which he returned the following anſwer.

To the Gentlemen Merchants, and Inhabitants of the Town of Penſacola.

Gentlemen,

I Thank you ſincerely for the honor you have done me in this addreſs, and for the high opinion you are pleaſed to expreſs of my conduct, in reſpect to the Bay of Honduras; it will ever afford me pleaſure whenever I have it in my power to render any ſervice to my country; and I am extremely happy, whenever my poor endeavours meet with approbation.

Among the different commands I am honored with from his Majeſty, the peculiar care of the province of Weſt Florida is one: I can faithfully aſſure you, it has ever been, and ſhall be, the principal object of my attention; and I eſteem myſelf happy, that my conduct has hitherto met with your approbation.

It gives me great concern to hear you have met with thoſe obſtructions to your commerce of which you complain; the matter is extremely delicate, comprehending in ſome part, the old diſpute concerning the letter and ſentence of the law. Importation of Silver in any veſſel, I am clearly of opinion, is permitted both by the one and the other; but as I have received inſtructions, ſignifying it is his Majeſty's intentions, Spaniſh veſſels coming into our ports for refreſhments as formerly, not laden with merchandize to the detriment of the manufactures of Great-Britain, ſhould receive all the indulgence they were accuſtomed to experience! And as I have communicated thoſe inſtructions (which ſufficiently ſhew the intention of the government) to the captains of his Majeſty's ſhips under my command, to whom you allude. I am hopeful from thence, you will be relieved from thoſe difficulties, in carrying on a commerce, which every one muſt confeſs, to be beneficial in the higheſt degree to the mother country.

I heartily wiſh you may feel all the benefits from it which your ſituation ſeems to promiſe; and that I may live to ſee the colony beneficial to Great-Britain, and advantageous to yourſelves.

You may reſt aſſured, nothing ſhall be wanting on my part to promote the one or the other, which I think mutually connected. W. BARNABY.

HARTFORD, June 24.

We hear, that the anniverſary Commencement, at Yale-College, in New-Haven, for this Year, is appointed by the Reverend Preſident, and Corporation, to be on Wedneſday the laſt Day of July next.

There is the faireſt Proſpect of a plentiful Wheat & Rye Harveſt, that has been known for many Years.

PORTSMOUTH, New-Hampſhire, July 1.

Laſt Saturday Evening as 7 or 8 Men were towing a Raft of Boards down the River, two of them were unfortunately drawn out of the Boat by a Rope which was faſtened to the Raft, one of whom, Mr. Moſes Ward of this Town, was drowned; the other was taken up alive, and it like to do well. Mr. Ward has left a ſorrowful Widow, with 6 ſmall Children.

July 5. Laſt week died here Mrs. Mary Davis, who for ſeveral years paſt had been grievouſly afflicted with the Dropſy, and in her we have a ſurpriſing inſtance of the efforts of nature, in ſupporting itſelf under the painful operation of twenty-eight tappings for that diſorder.

We hear from Rowley, that they had very ſevere thunder there laſt Monday afternoon, which ſtruck two men and a boy who were in a field at work; the boy who had one ſide of his head much burnt, and remained ſpeechleſs for two or three hours, is now in a fair way of recovery. [Such of our Cuſtomers who are deſirous to know whether the two Men, mentioned above, were either killed or hurt, we muſt refer for Information to the Printer of the New-Hampſhire Gazette, from which this Article is taken.]

Boſton, July 8.

A Gentleman from Athol, in this Province, acquaints us of the great improvement already made in the ſugar-making buſineſs at Bernardſton, about 20 miles from this place; and as the ingredient from which this valuable Article is produced, is ſpontaneous, and purely the product of nature uncultivated by human Art, it muſt doubtleſs excite the Curioſity of many to be informed of the particular Method of procuring it; which, as far as we could obtain from the Gentleman, is thus: Having choſen out a large Maple-Tree, ſuitable for the Purpoſe, they with an Axe box it, much after the ſame Manner of the Fir from which Turpentine is obtain'd; this being done, a kind of Trough is prepared, extending from the Trunk of the Tree on each Side, in order to retain the Sap as it runs down. By this Means upwards of 30 Gallons from one Tree has been drawn in a Day; which being manufactured after the Manner of the Syrup proceeding from the Sugar-cane, produces a Sugar, the Grain of which is equal in Fineneſs to the Jamaica; and the Molaſſes, or Treacle, extracted from the Preſſure of the Sugar, is very little, if any thing, inferior to our Weſt-India Molaſſes. Of this Sugar (a small Quantity whereof was brought to this Market to diſpoſe of) the Gentleman ſays, upwards of 6601b. was made by one Man the laſt Seaſon, i. e. from February to April, incluſive. It is the prevalent Opinion of the Manufacturers, that a Tree will be ſerviceable for this Purpoſe 12 or 14 Years, with proper Uſage.——When any one conſiders the ſtill greater Improvements that this Diſcovery is capable of, and forms to himſelf an Idea of the great Utility of ſuch a Manufacture, eſpecially in a Country that has few or no ſtaple Commodities to ſupport it, muſt he not with that an adequate Bounty was provided, or ſuch other ample Encouragement allowed, as that we might be able at leaſt to ſupply ourſelves with theſe Articles? and no longer have Recourſe to our Weſt-India Neighbours, who, we imagine, after this Diſcovery, will be as much Neceſſitous from the Want of our Lumber, as ever we have yet been from the Want of their Produce.——If we would be further ſtimulated to the propoſed Encouragement, we need only to reflect a little on the Manufactures in ſome of our Southern Provinces; whoſe Opulence ariſes chiefly from ſome of the moſt diminutive Plants, and proceeds more from Art in the Improvement of theſe, than from Induſtry in laborious Employments.

Beſides the above, ſeveral Hundred Weight of this maple Sugar has been brought, within theſe few Days paſt, from various Towns ſituated on the Eaſtern and Weſtern Parts of this Province, for Sale; it is ſaid that one Family near Number Four, the laſt Seaſon made upwards of 1000lb. of different Qualities. It is as pleaſant to the Taſte as any other Sugar, and the Makers inſiſt that it is medicinal, and very proper to give to Children for the Chin-Cough, at this Time very prevalent among us.

Tueſday laſt was brought here in a Veſſel from Philadelphia, one Pomeroy, who was taken up there on Suſpicion of his breaking into the Shop of Mr. Edwards, in this Town, and ſtealing a large Quantity of Plate, which was found upon him. He is now confined in Goal in this Town.

We hear that Benjamin Franklin, Eſq; who lately went Home Agent for the Province of Pennſylvania, is returned again to Philadelphia in a Veſſel arrived there from London.
